The patient's presentation is consistent with major depressive disorder (MDD) with psychotic features. This disorder is a subset of MDD in which the patient develops depressive symptoms exclusively during a depressive episode. The patient's (1) lack of interest in usual activities, decreased appetite/weight loss, sleep disturbance, and suicidal ideation meet DSM-5 MDD and the DSM-5 requires the presence of at least five of the following symptoms: depressed mood, loss of interest in usual activities, weight loss or gain, sleep disturbance, and thoughts of self-harm or death. DSM-5 requires the presence of at least two of the following symptoms: delusions or hallucinations, suicidal ideation, or thoughts of self-harm or death.

Characterizing MDD with psychotic features from MDD without psychotic features is important as treatment differs. Patients with MDD with psychotic features require antipsychotic medication in addition to antidepressants and psychotherapy or electroconvulsive therapy.

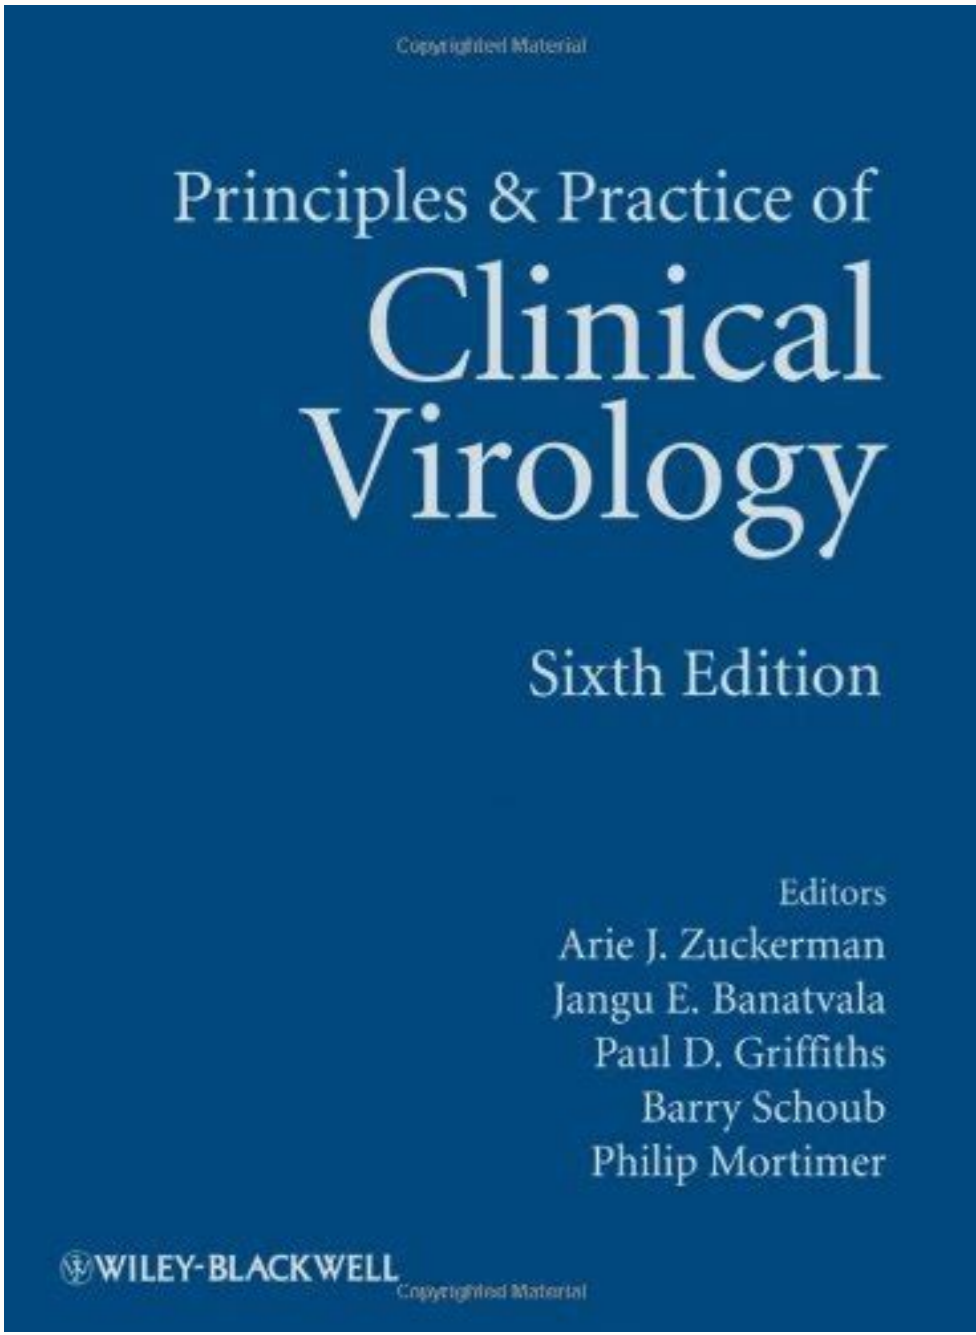

Choice A The patient has no history of mania or hypomania, hence not bipolar disorder.

Choice B Bipolar disorder patients experience at least one manic episode or at least a hypomanic episode. Most symptoms of mania are not met and not prominent part of the illness.

Choice C Patients with schizophrenia also experience both mood and psychotic symptoms. Schizophrenia disorder is distinct from MDD with psychotic features by the presence of delusions and/or hallucinations for 12 months in the absence of MDD mood symptoms. There is no evidence that the patient has experienced psychotic symptoms outside of the MDD episode.

Choice E and F Patients with schizophrenia disorder and schizoaffective experience psychotic symptoms in the absence of an identifiable mood episode. In schizoaffective disorder, symptoms last at least 1 day, but <6 months, in schizophrenia, symptoms persist for 6 months.

Educational objective
Major depressive disorder MDD with psychotic features is a subset of unipolar major depression characterized by symptoms meeting the criteria for MDD and the presence of delusions or hallucinations.
